EXECUTION OF ROBBERS MAKES SUCHIEN HOLIDAY

Only Throng Turns Out To See Outlaws Lose Their Heads

WOMEN APPLAUD AXMAN

Bandits Find Kidnapping Profitable Enterprise At Present

(China Press Correspondence)

Suchien, Kiangsu, April 24.

Yesterday your correspondent had the honor of being present at the execution of 11 robbers, 7 of whom had been under arrest less than 24 hours. A large crowd of men, women, and children, numbering at least many hundreds, possibly a few thousands, stood about the execution ground. All seemed happy and in good spirits as they waited for the show to begin. In order to realize how much the Chinese here enjoy an execution, we must remember that this is practically their only form of amusement or entertainment. It must take the place of the moving pictures, ladies' sewing circles, various social functions, and innumerable forms of athletic sports.

So rich and poor, young and old, male and female, Buddhist priests and up-to-date students, all made up the gay throng. The robbers, with their upper garments removed and their queues wrapped up on their heads, knelt in a row. The executioner, taking his heavy broadsword in both hands, began at the back end of the line, and chopped off heads at a rate of two or more per minute. The performance was heartily applauded by the festive multitude. As soon as all were killed, the crowd pressed forward to inspect the remains more closely.

ROBBERS ACTIVE

Robbers are now claiming a large share of attention here, from every one. It is the soldiers. Outside of the cities and large towns, the entire country is now at the mercy of the bandits, whose principal occupation is kidnapping. In former days, to be kidnapped gave one an air of distinction and wealth but not so in these days. Many persons of very modest means are being kidnapped. The robbers have commercial agencies of their own, and know exactly how much property each victim has. They usually demand a ransom which makes it necessary for the captive to sell a considerable portion of his property, perhaps about half.

When attacked by soldiers, the robbers frequently kill all of their captives, to prevent the possibility of their escaping and giving information. Some days since, we heard that a band of robbers had been attacked, and had killed 56 captives. When robbers succeed in capturing a village which has offered resistance, they usually try to exterminate the inhabitants, for revenge and as a warning to other villages.

MILITARY MEN ACTIVE

Until recently, the military officers in this district might have been commended for taking good care of their men, keeping them safely quartered in the cities and large towns. They seem to find the climate here more salubrious than in the rural districts, where their sleep might be disturbed by robbers. Moreover, amusement facilities are much better in the city than in the country. But within the past month there have been some signs of activity among the military gentlemen. The civil magistrate deserves credit for taking the lead. Though he has only a small force, probably something over a hundred men, he led them in person against the robbers in the north country. He sent in 15 heads with which to decorate the city gates, and it is said that he killed about 40 or 50 robbers during his two or three weeks in the country.

REPORTS DOUBTED

Chinese reports regarding the number of robbers killed may usually be taken with a grain or two of salt; but it seems very probable that at least a few hundred robbers have been slaughtered in these three countries within the past month. In the vicinity mentioned above, where two villages were recently destroyed, it is said that a hundred or more robbers have been killed since that time. Many are killed in fighting, or are executed in the country, wherever they are caught, but considerable numbers are brought into the city for execution. When the civil magistrate returned from his expedition into the country, he celebrated by executing 13 criminals, some of whom had been in jail for some time.

British Labor Leader Resigns After Twenty Years' Service

WILL Crookes, most popular of the labor members of the British House of Commons, who was forced to resign from the House, through illness, after twenty years' devoted service. A fund which is being raised by way of a testimonial for Mr. Crookes has been subscribed to by members of the Royal Family and members of the British Cabinet. Mr. Crookes had never fully recovered from the frightful shock of the spectacle when he witnessed some 200 children killed and maimed by a bomb from a German airplane which dropped upon a school building in the neighborhood of his home.

GEN. WOOD WILL VISIT SHANGHAI ON RETURN TRIP

Telegram To Consul-General Promises Stop-Over On Way Home In August

Major General Leonard Wood and staff and Mr. W. Cameron Forbes who are now enroute Manila on the transport Warren from Nagasaki on a tour of investigation as to the Filipinos' readiness for self government, will visit Shanghai on their return trip to the States which will occur during August.

The definite information was contained in a telegram received by U.S. Consul-General E. S. Cunningham. Gen. Wood expressed his thanks for the numerous invitations which had been extended his party by various officials, societies and organizations in Shanghai but regretted his inability to accept because of the change of itinerary by which he disembarked from the steamer Wenatchee at Yokohama and proceeded by rail to Nagasaki to board the transport.

The telegram to Mr. Cunningham is the first definite assurance that General Wood and party will visit Shanghai and China. The announcement, it is expected will result in many invitations for the Wood-Forbes party to accept the hospitality of different organizations while here in August, and it is urged by American organizations that such invitations from both American and other bodies be extended early to allow for the better arrangement of a program of entertainment.

Britain "Alive To Chinese Interests" In Pact With Japan

(Reuter's Service) London, April 28.—Replying to Commander Bellairs in the House of Commons today, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, said that no written representation had been received from the Chinese Government regarding the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance since the Prime Minister's reply to a question on June 10 last year, to the effect that the Anglo-Japanese Agreements of 1905 and 1911 had not infringed the integrity of Chinese territory without the consent of the Chinese Government. The Government, he said, were fully alive to the interest of the Chinese Government and people in the matter, but did not consider that the publication of further particulars would serve any useful purpose.

POLITICS IN COAL STRIKE, GOVERNMENT MAINTAINS

Hope For Settlement Fades As Workers Reject Offer

FIRM FOR "POOL"

Measures Taken To Insure Maintenance Of The Nation

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 28.—Following their conference with Sir Robert Horne this morning, the miners' representatives stated that the outlook was gloomy and a breakdown of the negotiations possible as the Government refused to increase the temporary subsidy offered.

The railwaymen suspended at Nottingham for their compliance with the Union's order against the handling of blackleg coal, have been reinstated, and a threatened strike on the Great Northern Railway is thus averted. The coal strike situation, however, was never more serious than it now is as a consequence of the decision taken by the miners' Conference tonight to reject the Government's proposals because they do not concede the fundamental principles of a national wages board and a national pool. A resolution to this effect was carried almost unanimously at a meeting to which the Secretary had reported Sir Robert Horne's final offer on behalf of the Government. It is stated that the miners' delegates are returning to their districts where they will report on the Government's present offer.

Reuter's Parliamentary correspondent learns that the miners' decision has deeply disappointed the Government which will now take every measure possible to secure the country's maintenance. It is emphasized that the resolution rejecting the Government's offer shows that the strike is being continued on a purely political issue.

London, April 29.—Prior to the miners' rejection of the Government proposals, the latter offered to increase the subsidy (to assist in maintaining wages) from £7,500,000 to £10,000,000, spread over a temporary period of four months, provided a durable settlement were made for at least a year after the subsidy ended.

An official of the Mining Association forecasts that the owners will now return to their respective districts and enter into arrangements with the local unions with a view to an early resumption of work.

P. & O. To Establish New Service To East

(Reuter's Service) London, April 29.—The P. & O. line has inaugurated a new fortnightly direct passenger line between London, the Straits Settlements, China and Japan, chiefly by means of 9,000-ton vessels of the Khyber class.

It is pointed out that the complete establishment of this line is contingent on the release of some designated vessels from the mail service, in which they are temporarily employed, pending the settlement of the labor troubles which are affecting the reconditioning of several of the larger mail steamers.

PREMIER OFFERS TO CONFER WITH UNTAINTED IRISH

Only Four Members Of Sinn Fein Parliament Qualified, He Says

ELECTIONS ON MAY 24

Greenwood Says Government Is Determined They Shall Be Held

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 28.—Introducing the supplementary Irish estimates in the House of Commons today, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, Sir Hamar Greenwood, said that the withdrawal of the Auxiliary Police from Ireland was not contemplated. He ridiculed the suggestion that these 1,500 British officers were responsible for the present disorder there.

The Chief Secretary added that the authorities had captured documents showing that there had been a plot to interfere with the Belfast water supply and perpetrate other outrages with a view to interfering with the elections in the North of Ireland; but the Government, he concluded, were resolved that the elections should be held both in the North and South of Ireland on May 24.

Considerable importance is attached in parliamentary circles to the concluding parts of the Prime Minister's speech in the House today on the Irish estimates, in which he reaffirmed his willingness to discuss the Irish problem with an authorized representative of Irish opinion. The Prime Minister read his remarks, which had been framed after consultation with Mr. Balfour, and which it is believed may be interpreted in connection with Lord Derby's recent visit to Dublin.

He offered to see any member of the Sinn Fein Parliament who was not suspected of murder (of whom there were only about four), on any subject of public importance, without any preliminary conditions with regard to policy or opinion. The Sinn Fein member who accepted his invitation, he said, could put forward any proposals, and it would be the Government's responsibility whether they accepted or rejected them.

NINE IN JAIL AS MEMBERS OF GANG THAT SLEW POLICE

Seven Men And Two Women Are Charged In Mixed Court

VICTIM IS BURIED

Impressive Service For Officer Who Was Shot; Hold Another Today

Seven men and two women appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday and were formally charged as a result of the tragic shooting affray of Thursday morning when two Chinese detectives were killed and two other police officers, including Sub-Inspector Prince, were wounded by armed robbers at bay in a lodging house at 49 Pakhoi Road.

A host of 46 murders is accredited to one of the prisoners by the police. This it is said, nonchalantly stated that he had been committing armed robberies since he was 18 years of age—he is now 39—and that he had slain 46 or 47 men, and that he was not quite certain which figure was correct. Of these, seven were detectives at Wusieh, where his alleged operations are said to have been carried on, and the murders were committed purely for revenge. The police are seeking for corroborative evidence of this sensational autobiography.

"Why did you come to Shanghai to continue your depredations?" he was asked. "I have heard that robbers who are caught here are punished by prison sentences," he replied. "If we were caught in Chinese territory it would be such."

The specific charge of murder has not yet been lodged against any of the men, but the four who were arrested before and during the battle were charged with the armed robbery of a dwelling at 295 Elgin Road on April 23, while three others, arrested subsequently, were accused as members of the gang. The two women are held as associates of the bandits and the police believe that they may have been active in disposing of loot secured in various raids. At the request of the police the case was remanded by Assessor Hutchinson and Magistrate Loh.

Evidence of the arrests was given by Detective Sub-Inspector Prince and Detective Sub-Inspector Cruickshank. The first accused, the former testified, is the man arrested in the Canton Road lodging house just before the raid on the Pakhoi Road establishment. The second and third were captured in the fight and the fourth was caught after trying to escape over the roofs. It was the third accused, named Tsang Kung-jan, who wounded the Sub-Inspector in the back.

Sub-Inspector Cruickshank stated that the fifth accused was located in a lodging house at 189 Yui Kwe Lee and the sixth at another lodging house at 168 Canton Road. The seventh man is alleged to have furnished the pistols with which the band was equipped and, according to another of the prisoners, was also a member of the organization. Mr. Goldring appeared to defend the last named prisoner and asked his release on bail, which was refused.

IMPRESSIVE RITES ACCORDED Impressive ceremonies, which were attended by several hundred members of the police force, including high officials, and also by officials of the Mixed Court, were held yesterday afternoon in connection with the burial of Detective Yang Zee-ling, who was shot to death by the robbers after he had forced his way into their room. Those present included Commissioner of Police McEuen, Chief of the Criminal Investigation Department William Armstrong, Deputy Commissioner Bourne, Assessors Hutchinson and Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan of the Mixed Court, Inspector Wheeler and as many others of the foreign and Chinese staff as could be spared from duty for the occasion. The officials abandoned their motor cars and walked in the funeral procession—which at its start was nearly a mile in length—as a mark of respect to the bravery of the dead detective.

The services began with a parade of uniformed police at Louisa station at 2.30 p.m. and the ceremony was continued at the Mohammedan mosque at the

Rev. Paul Rader Started As Prize Fighter In Woolly West

BY KISIE McORMICK
WILKES, Reverend Paul Rader was on his way to the Far West, where he had been bestowed several longitudinal looks on his seventy-four inches and then approached with considerable hesitation.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, "Out in Cripple Creek I had a prize fight with a guy named Rader once. I know he wasn't a preacher or anything like one, but I just sort of wondered—" "I'm the guy," said Mr. Rader, and for the next half-hour they traded reminiscences of the squared circle and the days when cauliflower ears bloomed from contact with the evangelist's padded glove. Mr. Rader, pastor of a church with a regular Sunday congregation of 5,000 people, has climbed through the ropes on 23 occasions and made the party of the second part want to climb through them on the other side. He has boxed with Bob Fitzsimmons in several exhibition bouts and has flogged some of the most promising heavyweights of his day. When "Baby Bob" died a few years ago, Mr. Rader was with him at his bedside, later conducting the funeral services at Moody Tabernacle.

WAS COWPUNCHER, TOO Cowpuncher, prize-fighter, football coach, college student, business man, a street-preacher, and finally pastor of one of the most popular churches in America, Reverend Paul Rader has had a career that no fiction writer would dare assign to a character for fear of having it criticized as entirely improbable. Born in what he describes as one of the toughest mining-camps in Colorado, Mr. Rader has fought his own way through the world from the age of thirteen. He was handicapped early in life by two badly-set ribs that crushed in his lungs and curtailed his heart space. Walking caused such serious palpitation and shortness of breath that he could go only a very short distance without stopping to rest. He was determined, however, that no matter what his handicaps he would have a strong body. Unaided by experts, he worked out a series of physical exercises that straightened the inverted ribs and gave him a constitution which caused more than one Colorado husky to taste the rosins on the floor of the prize ring.

Later resolving to go to college, Mr. Rader packed up his non-euro-elaborate wardrobe including his boxing gloves, bought a one-way ticket, and departed for Colorado University without the slightest notion as to how his course could be financed. But a man who could straighten out two of his own ribs was not at all concerned by such a minor obstacle as lack of money. Nor was any such concern necessary. By serving as football coach, teaching physical culture, and doing odd jobs of various descriptions, Mr. Rader paid his own way through college from freshman registration to Commencement.

TURNING BACK ON WORK If his story were shown in three-act drama form, the curtain would be lowered at this point to indicate a lapse of several years. When the curtain rises again, it shows Mr. Rader at a desk in New York, a successful promoter of several business enterprises.

"Just at the moment when I had achieved my highest financial success, a voice seemed to tell me that I was to turn my back upon work and become a preacher of the Word of God," Mr. Rader said. "I shut myself up in my room and for three days and nights fought against the call. But I mastered me at last, and I thought I entered the room a well-to-do business man, I left it a street-preacher who had turned his back forever on his worldly possessions. I never entered my office again, and from that day to this, I have never made a contract with any man regarding the payment of a dollar. As pastor of the Moody Tabernacle, I have refused to accept a fixed salary, preferring to live as best I can on whatever is provided for me."

Obeying literally the injunction to take neither purse nor scrip, Mr. Rader claims that distinction of having walked into every city from New York to Harrisburg. He learned the lore of the road from the cheerless hobo, sat around campfires with the morally lame, halt, and blind, preached the gospel on street corners to all who would wait and listen. Like an itinerant friar of the Middle Ages, Mr. Rader gave no thought to the material side of his wanderings. Not even when walking railroad ties with blistered feet did he think with regret of the mahogany furnishings in his New York offices or the coupons he might still be clipping had he so desired.

Coming at last to Chicago, Mr. Rader took over an empty church and began a series of noonday meetings for business men. His success was such that he was invited to hold a preaching service at Moody Tabernacle. As a result of this one sermon a great revival swept over the church, and Mr. Rader was invited to become its regular pastor. He has held this post for the past eight years, during which time the church has grown to incredible proportions. Rarely does the attendance at a service fall below 5,000.

KNOX PEACE RESOLUTION FACES FIGHT IN SENATE

Approved By Committee, But Minority Will Oppose It

FRENCH GLAD

Thank U.S. For Stand, And Say Taking Of Ruhr Is "Probable"

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 27.—The Knox Peace Resolution has been reported favorably by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by nine votes to two. Senators Pomerene and Whitman voted in opposition and indicated that they would fight in the Senate tomorrow against the resolution. London, April 28.—Reuter's Agency learns from a semi-official French source that the agreement between the Allies regarding the German situation is becoming still more complete.

The Allied experts, after examining the figures, expressed the belief that the occupation of the Ruhr basin would yield one and a half to two thousand million gold marks annually.

London, April 28.—The new German proposals were not at first fully comprehensible in British official circles, owing to their obscurity. They are now regarded as merely a clumsy reshuffle of the proposals put forward at the London conference and are therefore unacceptable.

According to a Reuter message from Washington, the State Department is awaiting receipt of some indication as to the Allies' attitude to the German proposals before replying to Berlin.

London, April 28.—Replying to Mr. Hogge in the House of Commons today, the Financial Secretary to the Treasury, Lieut. Comdr. E. Hilton Young said that the 132 milliards of gold marks fixed by the Reparations Commission as the amount payable by Germany did not include the estimated sum of £250,000,000 to be paid by Germany, under Article 232 of the Peace Treaty in respect of Belgium's debt to the Allies. He added that the Commission's decision had been conveyed to Germany.

Paris, April 28.—The French Government has telegraphed to the Ambassador in Washington, requesting him to convey its thanks to the American Government for the assurance that it will not deliver its reply to the German Note without the approval of the Allies, and furthermore to state that the German proposals are not acceptable to France, and that the occupation of the Ruhr region becomes increasingly probable, but cannot be carried out for a week after it has been decided on in agreement with the Allies.

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 28.—During question-time in the House of Commons, Mr. Lloyd George stated that the new German proposals were thoroughly unsatisfactory and inadequate. Replying to a question whether this meant that Great Britain was committed to the occupation of further German territory, the Prime Minister said that the House would have an opportunity of expressing its judgment during the debate on the Foreign Office estimates on May 5. He disagreed with the view that the representatives of the Government cannot commit the country as regards a particular course of action.

Mr. Lloyd George doubted whether the decision of the Supreme Council on the matter would be taken before the second or third of May. He then reiterated his previous statement that Great Britain would support France at the conference in her proposals for occupation of the Westphalian coalfields.

A motion introduced by Commander Kenworthy that the House debate "the Government's refusal to seek the assent of Parliament before concurring in a further occupation of Germany" was overwhelmingly defeated.

The standard American curriculum has been followed as heretofore, but some additions and changes have been made in the courses of study. Owing to a demand for some commercial work, a course in shorthand and typewriting was offered at the beginning of the present school year. The Gregg system of shorthand and the "touch" method of typewriting are taught. It is believed that a two years' course in shorthand and typewriting will fit a pupil to enter the commercial field fully qualified in the capacity of stenographer and typist. The commercial course comprises certain cultural subjects of a strictly academic nature.

CHANGES IN STUDIES

The most important of a few changes made in the courses of study is the beginning of the study of Latin in the eighth grade. Hereafter the study of physiology and American History will be completed in the seventh grade and a sample course in general history will be placed in the eighth grade.

A very complete course in sewing has been added this year, and all girls above the fifth grade are required to take it. This course is carefully graded and extends over a period of three years. A pupil completing this course should be able to make her own clothes, and to know cutting, fitting, darning, knitting, crocheting and embroidery.

Owing to a demand for the third year of high school, the Board of Managers have authorized the addition of this year, and beginning with the school year of 1921-22 the third year of high school will be offered. With the addition of the third year of high school, Greek will be added to the curriculum.

For some time it has been felt that the school should have a chaplain as a permanent member of the staff, a man qualified to have the pastoral care of the pupils and teachers, and to have charge of the Biblical instruction in the school. Such a man has been found in the person of Rev. R. A. Goodwin who has just recently joined the staff. Mr. Goodwin is not new to China, having served one term in the mission field under the American Church Mission Board.

NEW BUILDING
Work on the new school building is being pushed rapidly. The roof is almost completed and it seems hopeful that the building will be completed in time for the opening of School the first of September. The building is of fire-proof construction and will be lighted by electricity.

The staff of the Kuling School is at present composed of thirteen members, nine of whom are teachers. The aim of the school is to maintain a standard of work which will be acceptable to the best of schools in the United States, and neither money nor effort has been spared to accomplish this ideal. In addition to the teaching staff the school has on its staff a highly trained physician with experience in both the United States and China, and a school nurse. The school also has a well-equipped infirmary to care for all cases of illness.

corner of Chekiang and Pakhoi Roads, the vicinity being thronged with the mourners and co-workers of the deceased. The procession wound through the Frenchtown, headed first by a detachment of Sikhs and later by a squad of Annamite bicycle police sent by the French department, and proceeded past West Gate and along Sicaowai Road to the Mohammedan Cemetery, passing through great crowds of Chinese spectators who waited the route.

There were many beautiful floral tributes sent to the Mosque and the police authorities and men gave every evidence of their appreciation of the detective's heroism.

Yang, who was regarded by his superiors as an unusually keen prospect, had been in the detective branch for but three days and was on his first assignment when he met his death. Previous to his promotion he had been gateman at West Hongkew station. He leaves a wife and child.

Complete details of the funeral services for the other slain detective, Yi Tuh-ou, have not yet been completed but arrangements were being made last night for a formal ceremony at Sina station this afternoon.

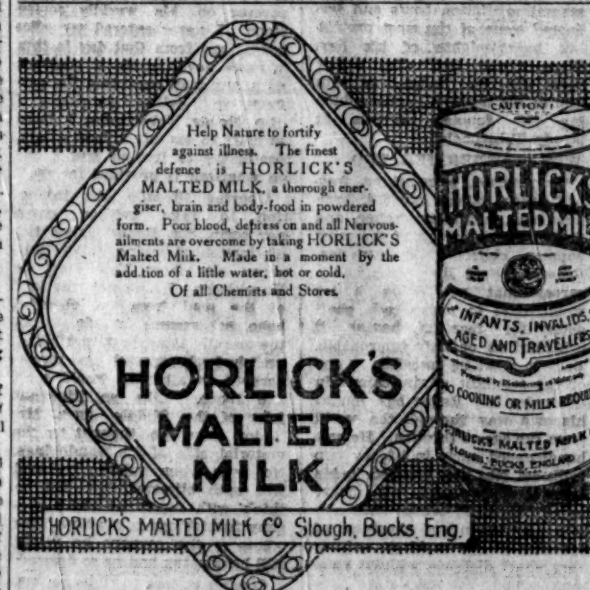

It is expected that the ceremony today will be even more impressive than that of yesterday, because of the fact that Yi was a veteran of the force and much more widely known than his companion. The funeral procession is scheduled to start at 1 o'clock from the home in Sina Road and will proceed over a course which will lead past the scene of the shooting. The body will be placed in a Chinese mortuary in Sina Road until such time as the relatives remove it to Yi's native place, Nanking.

of Moody Tabernacle has insisted that the floor consist only of sawdust sprinkled on the bare earth and that the seats be of unvarnished wood. That these primitive arrangements have not detracted in any way from the popularity of the church is obvious from the enormous attendance. Mr. Rader was recently elected head of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, in the interests of which he is now touring the world.

The evangelist states that, theologically speaking, he is decidedly old-fashioned. "I believe in modern methods, but not modern philosophy," he said. "I don't mind using a new glass, but I object strenuously to changing the water. As a preacher, I belong to the Walters' Union. Many ministers think that God called them to be chiefs—to cook up a new theory of life and a new gospel on which to feed their congregations. I believe in being a waiter and dishing out what was prepared for us countless ages ago."

HAS SEEN THE WORLD

Mr. Rader believes that the greatest danger in the present age is the tendency to make immorality nice. "In the tough mining-camp where I was born, there was a great deal of drinking and carousing, but every miner and cowboy with whom I associated as a lad would have pulled a gun on anybody who offered me a drink," said Mr. Rader. "In other words, although many of them indulged themselves, they saw the wrong of such things. The tendency of today is to excuse immorality and make it part of our theory of life. America seems to have left God. I am hoping that a great revival will sweep over the nation when the hollowness of its philosophy is realized."

One of the secrets of Mr. Rader's wonderful success as a leader of men is his amazing versatility. Unlike so many pastors who were wrapped in cotton wool early in life and graduated from the seminary with no knowledge of anything over its walls, Mr. Rader has seen the world from the inside out. He knows the depths of Colorado's mining-camps and the heights of her mountains, he has ridden in the wind of the plains as a herder of cattle, he knows the smoke-laden atmosphere of the prize-fight arena, he is familiar with the problems of the self-supporting student, he understands the machinations of Wall Street and the strange thoughts that lodge in the mind of the hobo, he is equally accustomed to the call of the open road and the rumble of a great city. From such an experience, he draws an inexhaustible fund of anecdote, a pithy vocabulary and a knack of talking understandingly to all sorts and conditions of men.

After a short visit in Shanghai, during which he delivered several addresses, Mr. Rader will depart today on the "Empress of Russia."

FEAST USED AS DECOY, BANDIT CHIEF NABBED

Accepts Hospitality Only To Find Himself In Prison
Later

(China Press Correspondence)
Hinghsia, Fukien, April 20.—The Northern troops under the direction of Colonel Wang have succeeded in taking possession of Hinghsia and capturing the bandit chief who has been the terror of that region for a number of years. Seeing that the Northern troops were coming in force the bandit chief decided to offer no resistance but to offer to join his forces to the national one.

Upon the arrival of the troops he gave a feast to a certain Major Li and a number of other officers. The feast was attended by these officers and at its close the bandit chief, Bu Deng Goh, was invited to a return feast for the following day. While this feast was in progress some remark on the part of Bu Deng Goh concerning the food gave Major Li the opportunity to bring his fist down upon the table with a bang. This signal brought in a number of soldiers and the bandit chief was informed that he was a prisoner.

In the meantime the Northern forces had been stationed close to the bandit forces who in years gone by had styled themselves the Southern Army. At a given signal the camps were rushed and several hundred bandits were dispersed. This procedure gave the Northern troops possession of the country. Friends and relatives of Bu Deng Goh have offered the soldiers a hundred thousand dollars to set the chief free. When the people of Hinghsia heard this they at once through the representatives of their various organizations petitioned the soldiers not to turn this bandit leader upon their grain. Being subjected to his burning and pillaging for the past three years they desire to be freed from it. The prisoner has been removed to the prison in Hinghsia City for safe keeping.

Following upon the capture of bandit forces who were not dispersed gathered together and in a number of localities offered resistance to the troops. However it was a feeble resistance and they soon retired to the West. Reports say that they have gone to Yungchun and Tehwa.

Further Charges Of Teuton Cruelty To Prisoners Bared

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 28.—A further case of German war atrocities was investigated at Bow Street Police Court today, when evidence was given in connection with charges of cruelty brought against a non-commissioned officer, named Trinke, and a sentry named Neumann, on account of their treatment of British prisoners at the Pommersdorf chemical works in 1917 and 1918. It was announced that Neumann was in custody in Germany, but that Trinke, who was in Poland, had not been arrested.

NANKING STARTS ROAD IMPROVING

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, April 26.—It is with great interest that we note activities around Nanking along the lines suggested by the Good Roads Movement. Twenty miles east of the city there are hot springs that have been the resort of the officials and upper classes in Nanking for a long time. This place, Tang Shwei, is on a high road that runs from the Chao Yang Gate of the city to the district to the east of us. Within the last month work has been started improving this road and making it possible for automobiles and carriages to make the trip comfortably. There is no doubt but that this move will make these hot springs even more popular than they have been in the past, especially since, near them, are the quarries from which the Ming Emperors cut the huge monoliths that were used for spirit walls and the stone images that are to be seen all around the city and which date from the early days of the Ming Dynasty.

At the last monthly meeting of the Nanking Association, which was held under the auspices of the Music Club, the large audience that filled the auditorium of Severance Hall was given a chance to see themselves as others see them. A musical comedy, worked up by Mrs. Dean Kelsey, Mrs. H. Clemens and Mrs. J. Horton Daniels, depicting the adventures of a modern hotel-keeper in his efforts to please, was very cleverly given, and to judge by the applause, appreciated by the audience. The Congressional party, the Sunday School party, a group of missionaries from the distant interior, together with local celebrities held the center of the stage from time to time.

U.S. TOKIO ENVOY TO BE NAMED SOON

Harding Tells Correspondent
Nomination Will Be Made
Within Next Week

Washington, April 17.—President Harding has informed the Japan Advertiser correspondent that the nomination of the new Ambassador to Tokio may be expected within the next week, but for the present the appointment remains a dark secret.

Dr. John C. Ferguson, the American adviser to the President of China, was in Washington last week. Influential members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate are backing him strongly for the appointment as Minister to Peking. Doctor Ferguson is now in New England lecturing on behalf of the China Famine Relief Fund.

Much satisfaction is expressed here in both American and foreign diplomatic circles over the appointment of Peter Augustus Jay of Rhode Island as Minister to Rumania. Mr. Jay who is now Minister to Salvador represents the younger element in the American diplomatic service which is making a career of diplomacy. Mr. Jay has risen to Ministerial position from the lowest grade in the service. It would please many friends and admirers in the United States if President Harding found it proper to bestow the reward of ministerial rank on Edward Bell, the present Charge d'Affaires in Tokio, who is also one of the "meritorious younger service men."

Peter Augustus Jay, the new Minister to Rumania, was Secretary of the American Embassy in Tokio from 1907 to 1909, and as Charge d'Affaires ad interim was authorized in July, 1908, to effect the exchange of the ratifications of the American-Japanese conventions for the protection of inventions, designs, trade marks and copyrights in China and Korea.

Sense Of Security Created By Hughes

Sentiment In Capital Is One Of Reassurance Regarding Foreign
Complications

New York, April 17.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, Mark Sullivan, pays a striking tribute to the personality of Charles E. Hughes in describing the feeling of confidence prevailing in the capital respecting foreign complications. He says that the base of this confidence is a "daily increasing sense of reassurance and security in the Secretary of State," who radiates strength by his appearance and manner. Congress is disposed to wait to see what sort of a job the Administration makes over the complex task of disassembling the Treaty of Versailles from the Covenant of the League of Nations, and half believes that this can be accomplished.

Mr. Hughes has for the moment turned his attention to the problem of recognition of the Republic of Mexico by the United States Government, which he is apparently willing to grant only in the same lines as his predecessor, but a further development in his European policy is indicated in the intimation that at the forthcoming international conference to consider ways and means of saving Austria from bankruptcy an official American representative, Colonel C. D. Smith, will be present as an observer. Mr. Hughes' intention apparently is that in all European conferences touching economic questions the United States shall participate with the view of protecting American rights and interests.

Such development would prevent the repetition of the mandate controversy, in which an American protest followed instead of preceding the decision of the Allies. Europe evidently welcomes the United States' deliberations, whether formally or informally, and solicits American counsel. Therefore, only the happiest results may be expected from the prospective tactics of Mr. Hughes.

Ningpo Has Fine Industrial Show

(China Press Correspondence)

Ningpo, April 24.—For the purpose of encouraging local industries and promoting the commercial intercourse of the Chinese and foreign merchants the local Y.M.C.A. organized an Industrial Exhibition which is being held in the association premises, starting on the 22nd instant.

During the last two or three years, the native industries of a semi-modern type has made remarkable progress. Factories manufacturing silks, socks, umbrellas, matches, soap, mattings, etc., have sprung up in great numbers. The Ningpo workshops also build machinery and internal combustion engines. Sometime ago a committee was appointed by the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. to take charge of the matter and preparations were forthwith made with the different factories to send their goods before the 21st instant.

The Exhibition opened with an interesting lecture from Mr. H. S. Redfern about Conditions of Ningpo Industries. The meeting was well attended by the prominent manufacturers of the city. Mr. Tchou presiding. Hundreds of people visited afterwards.

THESE WOMEN KEPT SECRET

Silent Many Years To Save A
Wife's Happiness

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9.—It is a generally accepted axiom that women cannot keep a secret. This is concerning two women who kept a secret upon which the happiness of another depended, one for ten years and another for a dozen.

Miss Elizabeth Morley of Jamestown, testifying today in the suit brought by her sister, Flora Smith, for divorce from Lewis Smith, said she saw Smith and a woman not his wife in Colerain, N. Y., in 1908.

"Smith got down on his hands and knees and begged me not to tell his wife," said Miss Morley, "and I didn't until he deserted her and went to England. She was fretting about him, and I told her he wasn't worth it."

Miss Florence Peterson described a time two years later when she came upon Smith with another woman not his wife in his lap. "He asked me not to tell his wife," said Miss Peterson, "and I didn't, as I did not wish to make trouble. After he left her I told her what I knew."

Judge Cole, sitting in special term of Supreme Court, told Mrs. Smith's lawyer to prepare findings.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, liniments and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Dr. H. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

AD CLUB HEAR MR. WU TING-SENG AND MR. J. ARNOLD

Mr. S. P. Westaway Nominated For Presidency; Election Of Officers Postponed

Mr. Wu Ting-seng, sales manager of Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Co. and Mr. Julian Arnold, United States Commercial Attache, were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Advertising Club of China yesterday. Mr. S. P. Westaway, vice-president, presided. The speeches were interpreted by Mr. T. Y. Chang of the Commercial Press.

The election of officers, scheduled to take place yesterday, was postponed upon motion of Mr. C. F. Lin which was seconded by Mr. T. Y. Chang. The list of candidates as submitted by the nomination committee was as follows:

President, S. Percy Westaway; Vice-President, T. B. Chang; Secretary (Foreign), Benton Sanders; Secretary (Chinese), T. Y. Chang; Treasurer (Foreign), John S. Potter and Treasurer (Chinese), C. P. Yeh. Committees: Membership, Don D. Patterson and C. F. Lin; House, John A. Dissmeyer and E. S. Ling; Vigilance, A. R. Hager and Dr. Feng F. See; Organisation, S. W. Wolfe and C. S. Wang; Education, Thos. M. Knight and Thos. H. Yu and Publicity, J. B. Powell and Y. D. Shen.

Mr. Wu pointed out that advertising was not a new art to the Chinese, although it had not been given the proper place in the realm of trade on account of the restricted local trade in villages and cities and the crude way in which advertisements were presented to the public.

The idea of signboards and wrapping paper with advertising matter was conceived by the Chinese long ago and as they traveled more, they got more acquainted with the products of the various localities. The speaker illustrated this with the famous Ching-cheng Chinaware in Kiangsu. The proper advertising of the article and the distribution of the ware by the travelers, as transportation facilities improved, all helped in making the articles popular.

Speaking of tea, Mr. Wu expressed great disappointment in the advertising of the trade. It was true that small bits of labels did accompany the leaves, but they were far behind time. The advertising material seldom reaches the eyes of the consumer, he said. As a result, Ceylon and Java tea on the American market is forging ahead of the once famous China tea.

The speaker then went on to discuss the value of window dressing, color and lighting effects, position of advertisements, the use of standard packing and labels, trade slogan and the use of attractive illustrations. Mr. Arnold took up Mr. Wu's discussion on the decline of the China tea trade and called the attention of the members of the club to the fact that no passenger was able to get China tea in the first-class compartments of the government railroads in China. This could never happen in any other country. It would be well worth the while of the members of the Advertising Club to investigate this matter before they start on anything else, he said. The Government railways invariably serve Ceylon tea in the first class compartments.

Mr. Arnold concluded by making certain valuable suggestions as to how China tea could best be advertised first in this country and then abroad.

U.S. Labor Opposes Entrance Of Chinese Industrial Students

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter) Washington, April 28.—The Labor leaders have denounced the cancellation of the arrangement with the officials of the Chinese Merchants' Association, thus permitting Chinese industrial students to enter the United States. Assistant-Secretary Henning said he had been informed that the scheme would be the means of bringing 30,000 Chinese laborers into the United States.

ASKS AERO BUREAU

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter) Washington, April 27.—Aviation has been given insufficient attention by the people, Congress and the Navy, Secretary Denby told the House of Representatives Naval Committee today. He advocated the enactment of a bill to create a separate Navy Bureau of Aeronautics as the first step toward remedying this.

House Defeats Plan To Aid Disarmament

(Reuter's Service) Washington, April 28.—The House of Representatives has overwhelmingly rejected an amendment to the Naval Appropriations Bill providing that no funds should be expended on the construction of warships until President Harding had called an international conference to consider the question of disarmament.

Old Point Comfort, April 23.—President Harding today reviewed the Atlantic Fleet from the Presidential yacht Mayflower.

The fleet of warships presented all imposing spectacle. In the course of a speech delivered on the quarter-deck of the flagship Pennsylvania afterwards, he expressed the wish that the United States might never again be called on to fire a gun. "We declared that the United States did not want anything that was not right, but did want what was righteously its own," and by the Eternal, we mean to have that."

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter) Los Angeles, April 27.—A large part of the Pacific Fleet participated in tactical maneuvers off San Pedro today, which were the largest yet conducted by the Fleet.

Maidie Scott never has Sore, Tired Tender Feet

—because she uses a highly medicated and oxygenated foot bath prepared by adding Rendeil Bath Saltrates to plain water. Refreshing, soothing, healing, and antiseptic, its wonderful effects upon sore, tired muscles, aching bones, irritated nerves, and sensitive skin make you feel like dancing with joy. Maidie Scott says:—"After two, three, and sometimes four theatrical performances a day, one is apt to feel a little tired, and it is then that I find Rendeil Bath Saltrates my best friend. A bath to which your wonderful Saltrates has been added refreshes one completely, and I should advise all who dance much—and who does not nowadays?—to soak the feet daily in a bath to which a small quantity of Rendeil Bath Saltrates has been added. They will then never know what it means to have tired, aching feet." Millions of packages of Rendeil Bath Saltrates have been sold and the sale is increasing daily. This means something, and must convince even the most sceptical of its real merit. In convenient size and at very low price from chemists everywhere. Note.—Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, are at present in possession of large supplies of Rendeil Bath Saltrates.

Japan's Chinese Policy To Stand

(Reuter's Pacific Service) Tokio, April 29.—While it is true that Mr. Obata and the other officials who are expected here from China early next month will confer with the authorities regarding Japan's policy towards China, the speculations which have been appearing in various vernacular newspapers regarding a change of policy are erroneous. The conference which will be held is designed to be of the nature of a free exchange of views on pending Sino-Japanese questions, in the hope of improving the relations between the two countries, and of removing whatever misunderstandings exist abroad in respect of Japan's policy towards China. Inter alia, special consideration will be given to joint measures of defense against the insubordinate Koreans on the Korean frontier.

NO GAME THIS AFTERNOON BUT SHANGHAI NINE WILL PLAY U.S.S. NEW ORLEANS TOMORROW

Cryptic Message Raises Doubt Whether Team Of Stanford University Will Be Here For Olympic Games—Games With Schools Are Planned

LOCAL baseball fans will not see the Shanghai hopefuls in action this afternoon but a game is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon with the U. S. S. New Orleans.

Why the sailors will not send their team out today is not plain. There is a counter attraction in a way as a group of the men from the cruiser are playing indoor baseball at the Young Women's Christian Association gymnasium but if sufficient efforts were made to get the American man-of-war, it seems that a nine could have been recruited for a practice game today.

However, the sailors will be out tomorrow with Burman again pitching against Shanghai. The New Orleans team practiced at the Race course yesterday but the civilians continued their absent-treatment idea so that the game tomorrow ought to be a hummer with the reverse English.

Stanford University will probably not be here for the Olympic Games. President. Fred McIntyre of the Baseball Club received a telegram last night which read:

"Awaiting advice Kishibiki Yokohama"

Whether this means that Mr. Kishibiki (or Messrs. Kishibiki) must give permission for the American collection to come here or that Stanford is waiting to make final terms with the Japanese promoters is uncertain. Little is known in Japan regarding the coming of either Stanford or the University of California. Nothing is known of the wanderings of the baseballers from the University of Washington.

However, the local management has enough to worry about at home. Manager Knowlton since he can no longer rely on the sailors for Saturday and Sunday games, has written to Shanghai Baptist College, Nanyang, St. John's, Soochow University and Fudan for Saturday games.

Just one other item. Yesterday morning we printed a rumor to the effect that one of the committee was expected at the practice yesterday afternoon. This was unfounded.

INDOOR BASEBALL ON TODAY; GIRLS WILL MEET GOBS

Game Starts At Y.W.C.A. Gym This Afternoon At 3 O'clock

The Business Girls' Baseball Club will cross bats with a team from the U.S.S. New Orleans in an indoor baseball game this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the gymnasium of the Y.W.C.A., 37 Kinchew Road. The game was originally planned for the Hongkew Park, but the condition of the ground has moved the committee to shift the scene of the slaughter.

The sailors of the gunboats in port are going to the game in full force. Over a 100 have made reservations on special cars leaving Bund and Avenue Edward VII beginning at 2:30 o'clock. After the game the sailors will be entertained at a picnic supper.

The game which was arranged by the Women's Overseas League, is in charge of the following committees: representing the Overseas League—Miss Helen Sanger, Miss L. Willis, and Miss H. Murray; representing the Business Girls' Athletic Club—Miss Johnson, captain, Miss Webster, and Miss Reiveld; representing the Navy, Messrs. Taylor, Burman and Fuller.

HARRIERS RACE FOR SCHOOLBOYS THIS AFTERNOON

Six Teams, With Some 60 Runners, To Compete For Championship

More than 60 boys of six different schools will participate in the cross-country run to be conducted this afternoon under the auspices of the Shanghai Harriers Club. The race will start from the small gate of the Hongkew Park at 4 o'clock, rain or shine.

The course will be about three miles in the Kiangwan district, the finish being in the Kiangwan Road. The schools that have entered for the run are the Shanghai Public School, Thomas Hanbury School, Fudan University, Shanghai American School, Shanghai College and Nanyang University.

Recs Ground Will Open Thursday; Club Is Popular

(Contributed)
One of the most popular of our outdoor clubs is the Shanghai Recreation Club, inasmuch as it caters for the four principal British outdoor games: football, cricket, tennis and lawn bowls.

The prowess of its football members is well known to all Shanghai sportsmen, it having been the cradle of many of the present best known players, while the number of those old members whose advancing years have put the seal on their playing capabilities, is legion.

The same remarks apply to the cricket players for the Recreation Club has never made a specialty of any particular branch of sport but gone in for one and all with a heartiness that puts it in the front rank of Shanghai sporting clubs.

A few years ago, several of its members, imbued with the bowling spirit, put to the Committee in no half hearted manner the fact that the Recs should start a bowling section. The motion was passed with acclamation and it was no sooner proposed than accomplished.

A portion of the ground was put into the hands of a contractor with the result that in a very short time enthusiastic new players were being initiated into the intricacies and mysteries of the "green," as well as its own peculiar language, by such veterans as Frank Jones, Harry Veitch, popular Guy Manwarine and several other well known bowlers.

Today, the Recs bowling green is second to none in the Settlement and this Season, they aver, with all modesty, they intend to give to all and sundry of the various clubs, a good fight for the Championship of Lawn Bowls.

To their old green, they have this year joined another, and with the improvements effected to the original, they will be able to entertain their friends on one of the best bits of ground in Shanghai.

The Committee composed of E. E. Lever, president; R. P. Phillips, vice president; R. J. Bowerman, treasurer; R. Purcell, secretary, with members as follows: H. S.

Revolver Club's 1921 Competition Entries Closing

The Revolver Club's Members Championship Competition for 1921 will close Sunday evening. The competition calls for 10 shots fired at 10 yards, 10 shots at 15 yards, 10 shots at 20 yards and 10 shots at 25 yards. Time limit one hour. Clubs standard targets, with two-inch inner and four-inch outer bulls-eye. H. P. S. 400.

Smyth, T. E. Poignand, Frank Jones, J. L. Wade, T. S. Wade, G. O. Wootton, will do their utmost to make the Recreation Club as popular as it ever was.

The ground will be officially opened for all games on Thursday, May 5.

On Sunday, May 8 all the bowlers among its members are specially invited to attend an All-Day meeting, commencing at 10 a.m. Tournaments will be held and all members intending to participate will greatly oblige the Committee by advising Mr. Poignand, telephone C. 204, or Mr. Phillips, C. 205 of their intention to be present.

Tiffin will be served at the Club at the usual reasonable charge and it is hoped that a good number will join in giving the Season a happy send off.

In the afternoon, the members will be at home to their friends and competitors on the Green will be held for these visitors, prizes being awarded the winners. It is sincerely hoped that the clerk of the weather will take particular note of the date and ensure an enjoyable day by refraining from sending his recent usual week end weather.

Any bowlers who are not members of a local Bowling Club are given a hearty welcome to this Meeting on May 8 and the Committee trust that they will introduce themselves and stand by the result.

ST. JOHN'S SENDS STRONG TEAM TO SOOCHOW MEETING

East China Track And Field Championships On This Afternoon

St. John's University is sending a formidable team to the annual track and field meeting of the East China Intercollegiate Association which is to be staged today on the grounds of Soochow University at Soochow. Other teams that are to be reckoned with seriously at the meet are those of Nanyang University and the Soochow University aggregation.

In addition to the competition for the East China championships the meeting will include a number of open events in which athletes who are not members of any particular school may try out for the China Olympic team. Those who wish to enter these open events and who are unable to go to Soochow today will have another opportunity to enter open events to be held at the Fudan meeting to be held on May 7.

Foreigner Jailed As Pocket Picker

A sentence of two months' imprisonment was imposed by the Mixed Court yesterday upon Andre Adislar, a Persian claiming to be a dancing artist, for picking pockets at Kiangwan race course last Saturday. Adislar was also charged with having obtained five $5 notes in a Japanese shop on Woosung Road by means of a bill changing trick. The two other foreigners originally charged in connection with the pocketpicking were dismissed. The police claim that Adislar has a wide reputation as a pick-pocket.

DALGARNO IS WINNER OF CHAMPION STAKES AT HANKOW MEETING

Prominent Shanghai Rider Scores Fifth Victory In Main Event Of Meeting—Dupree In Remarkable Performance Scores 16 Wins In 29 Races—Track Is Slow

Mr. W. A. Dalgarno, the well-known Shanghai rider, was winner yesterday of the Champion Stakes, the big event of the Hankow spring meeting which was held this week under adverse weather conditions. The news of the Shanghai rider's victory was received last night in a message to the Shanghai Race Club. The winning pony that Mr. Dalgarno rode was Challenger and the time over the mile and a quarter course of the race was 2:49 2-5.

The winning of the Champion Stakes marked Mr. Dalgarno's fifth victory in the three days in which 29 events were staged. An outstanding feature of the meeting has been the riding of Mr. Dupree who at the close of yesterday's program had won no less than 16 of the 29 races run, including one dead heat for first place. All of the first five of yesterday's events went to Mr. Dupree.

The times recorded for the various events of yesterday's program at the Hankow meeting indicate that the wet weather has continued through the third day keeping the track muddy and slow. Winners and riders of the nine events of yesterday's card, as given in the message to the Shanghai Race Club are as follows:

First Race—The Race Cup. One mile. Won by Guede-court (Mr. Dupree). Time 2:14 2-5.

Health, Beauty And The Home

Home Color Schemes

By Mrs. Christine Frederick,
The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

AS far as I know, there is no book on the close relationship between health and color in the home—but that book should be written, because it is not an idle fancy to state that there is a strong relation between the colors about us and the healthful conditions of our minds and bodies. Can we say that our cooks have been ill-tempered because the kitchen was papered a bluish green? Possibly!

It is hopeful to state at the outset that there is a great improvement in the line of household decorating and knowledge to-day over a decade or twenty-five years ago, and certainly over that unfortunate Victorian era, with its hazy colors of emboldened red and its sprawling roses in the Brussels carpets. There is a much higher standard of good taste in our homes than formerly.

While this is encouraging, there is still much to be done toward furthering the interest in and appreciation of correct color harmonies as applied to the walls, the furniture and other things.

Unfortunately many homes are already decorated when we come to live in them, and many of us have purses which are none too fat. But still we can learn some of the principles of good color use and apply them when we have the chance. We can lay down as simple facts the following:

1—All light colors tend to make rooms appear lighter, more spacious and more cheerful.

2—All dark or sombre tones make rooms seem smaller and give an impression of stuffiness and gloom. Very dark tones, especially of green, red or orange, should never be used, on account of their depressing effects on our minds.

3—Breaking the wall space with a frieze, wainscoting or mouldings makes it appear smaller, and closer to the floor, thus lessening the apparent height of the room.

4—Having no break in the wall, or the same or a still lighter tone as we approach the ceiling, makes the room seem lighter and larger.

5—The smaller or more nearly single-toned the wall surface, the less distracting the effect. Designs with large units are suitable only in large rooms, especially in halls or rooms not for intimate use.

6—Only a single-toned surface is permissible behind pictures and decorative objects.

7—It is never best to have strongly contrasting colors in adjoining rooms, because when the doors are open, too strong and unpleasant contrasts result.

8—Floor coverings and rugs should be fairly inconspicuous in color and design.

9—Hangings with strong, striking patterns and colors are best when the walls are neutral and weak in tone, while very pronounced wall designs permit only single-toned or neutral hangings.

10—Floors, walls, hangings and furniture must be unified by some central idea, color scheme or decorative plan—otherwise we achieve a nervous, disjointed and fatiguing effect on both the eye and the mind.

Of course not all the theory and practice of good color taste is included in these ten points, but I should say that if all these were followed a house would not be in bad taste.

Just why many of the older homes or homes "done" after the old manner were dark in scheme is not clear. I recall clearly a whole row of flats in a large West-end city which had very dark chocolate brown walls and bright maroon red dining rooms. Indeed, a red dining room used to be much desired, if I recollect rightly. And yet we know that strong red is irritating, that it has a bad effect on the nervous system and that it incites to anger and ungoverned impulse. The dining room, where all should be quiet and peaceful to further digestion, is the last place where it should be used. The best plan is to have red entirely as far as rooms in the small modern homes are concerned and limit its use to little color touches in candles or a vase.

Dark green is almost equally bad in its results in making rooms seem small, dingy and unhappy looking. And yet red to say, it is widely used. Very often gold markings are seen on cheap, dark green paper, which fades abominably. All dark shades of green are trying and seem to have depressing effects. Let us eliminate this shade of green from the home.

But the light apple-green, pea, and that green of lovely Japanese "sash" china are not only cheerful, but cool and especially appealing in the dining room. A dining room decorated in plain paper, with a few of these leaf or woods greens, with white curtains and the shine of silver do everything possible to make the background of eating clean, cool and cheerful. Let us then learn to know one green from another.

Famous Beauties of Stage and Screen, No. 29—MARY PICKFORD.

Probably the group of allied shades known as sand, putty, biscuit, taupe, pounce and others of similar tan and gray tone have a wider possibility than any others in the treatment of walls. The sand shade is one of the very best for the living room, the library and the hall. As a background it is unexcelled, as its neutral warm tint sets off both picture and frame most satisfactorily. It is light without being overbright or conspicuous, and as it harmonizes with most woodwork and furniture it has a wide appeal on that score alone. If there is any doubt as to what shade or color will "go" in any certain room, be safe and choose one of the various "putty" shades. It is equally good when combined with white enamel trim or mahogany.

The point that adjacent rooms should not have strong contrasts in color holds good, although there are, of course, exceptions. In the large house of many rooms, where period styles and decorations are followed, and where more formal living obtains, it is often permissible and even desirable to have each room in sharp contrast to the one adjoining. But in the smaller house, especially in the bungalow or cottage type, where more intimacy prevails and doors are left open, or are fewer, it gives a harsh break to turn suddenly from a blue room to a pink one and then to a green one. Better, far better, to have the rooms of the same color, but in varying shades, as a very light dining room, a darker green den and an apple-green hall—all blended, however.

Or the use of the sand shade just mentioned above, in all the rooms of an entire floor, is another good scheme, either for bed or living apartments. Only when there is a door that is shut most of the time is it permissible to have strong contrasts in adjacent rooms. In that construction where the hall, living room and dining room, with a central stair, are practically one, it is always safest to use one color or shade on the walls, throughout. This rule also applies to floor coverings, particularly linoleum or inlaid carpets, where similarity of covering results in a more restful, unified effect and makes for more spaciousness. This same space treated as one is larger than if treated as two or three smaller divisions.

This interesting subject of color harmonies in the home is so wide and important that I shall continue the subject in another talk in the near future.

Exercising for Beauty

By Lina Cavalieri,
The Most Famous Living Beauty.

HOW many of my readers are wont to class exercise as a necessity of life quite the same as food and sleep? I know some of them are fond of sports when the weather is propitious, and that others when moved by the desire of body building or reduction take regular exercise until some other interest absorbs their attention. But to many, I regret to say, exercise is merely work and avoided as such.

After all, exercise is merely muscular activity. And dear old mother nature has shown us where she places this activity in her scheme of life. For until an infant has learned how to do a certain amount of action it cannot even feed itself. You see, it is our first experience of life's law that one lives by the sweat of one's brow. Then as the baby's body becomes stronger its activity increases, until the small child when awake is an example of perpetual motion. And the pleasure it derives from a constant activity radiates happiness throughout the entire household.

So, too, it is better for the grown-up to look upon exercise as the pleasure-expressing part of her vital function which will at once be shown in bright eyes and clear complexion. As soon as you regard it as a part of your daily life you will realize that there are as many ways of exercising as there are ways of arranging your hair.

All of the Summer sports—bathing, golf, tennis and riding are pleasure givers. And some of the Summer duties may be made into pleasure-giving sports. Gardening, even in its most painful aspect of weeding, you can use as a sport.

Of course, you will wear a short skirt. And make it a point to wear a smock or midly blouse. Then take off your corsets and give your waist and back muscles a chance to benefit by your stooping and rising. Stand erect and raise your arms straight overhead occasionally. This will take the stitches out of your back and legs.

There is no sport more beneficial to grown-ups than handball. Besides giving work to all one's muscles, it gives as much work to the left as the right arm. Though few persons have a regular handball court one is easily improvised.

If you have your garage near the house, just close the door and use it for the court wall, while the drive does the duty as a court. A tennis ball is all the equipment necessary for this health-giving sport, where ever there is a bit of blank wall outside the house it will serve the same purpose as the garage door.

It is by these small manoeuvres that one contrives to make exercise a part of one's daily life instead of a thing apart to be indulged in as though it were a picnic.

The servant problem having become a permanent condition of life at present, many of us are attending to our own household duties. These, too, with proper apparel may be made occasions of joyful exercise.

As soon as you contrive to look upon exercise as a vital necessity you will plan your day so as to obtain a fair share of this as of other body foods, and before long you will feel the lack of daily body movements as you would the lack of a meal.

Many a person's day is passed at an office desk to which she must proceed in a crowded train. And many of my readers who are devoting themselves to Red Cross work are in this category. You have not the time for sports nor housework, so, in order to keep fit, it is really necessary to practise regular bedroom exercises night and morning.

Always begin with simple ones, such as arm bending and stretching and deep breathings. Then practise running in place for several minutes. A good Highland fling or some of the strenuous Russian dances are, I need scarcely remind you, as "everlasting" as running in place, and they are much more fun. The more fun you get out of an exercise the more it will benefit you. So spend your holidays in outdoor sports or in gardening.

Some persons, of the automobile exercise type, tell me that exercise is an unattractive development of these modern times. If they will but read the records of the old chronicles they will be much surprised to learn of the activities of the beautiful chateaux of olden times. When these world-renowned beauties were not supervising their painting and weaving women in the chateaux, they disported themselves in riding, hawking and dancing. And then, when in quest of a little rest, these high-born dames would seat themselves on hard wooden stools and bend over their embroidery frames. I cite their example because there are still a few Victorian-minded women who fear that the young person who loses her feminine charm if she becomes a lover of exercise.

Secrets of Beauty

WHAT will make my eyebrows grow?—W. H. N.

The following tonic, if rubbed into the eyebrows with the tips of the fingers every night before retiring, will stimulate their growth in a wonderful fashion:

Tincture of rosemary... 5 grams
Spirits of camphor... 50 grams
Tincture of cantharides... 1 gram
Fine cologne... 50 grams

HOW can I break myself of the habit of biting my nails?—READER.

It is easy enough to cure yourself of this unpleasant habit by dipping your finger-tips into a solution of aloes, which is one of the most bitter-tasting concoctions it is possible to secure. When you have had this on your lips a few times you will soon learn to leave your fingers alone. Then at night rub a little cold cream or olive oil on the nails and bandage them up tightly to make them more presentable.

WHAT can I do for an oily skin? When I use powder the oil comes out of the pores and my complexion looks very shiny.—R.

A dozen drops of tincture of benzoin in a basin of water will have a tonic and astringent effect upon your skin. But if the trouble has gone too far for this simple remedy to be effective, then bathe the skin once or twice daily with a little of the following:

Camphor water... 1 pint
Pure glycerine... 1/2 ounce
Borax... 1/4 ounce

MY feet are so fat that sometimes I am very much ashamed of them. How can they be reduced?—ANXIOUS.

Exercises and massage will sometimes make the feet much more shapely and graceful looking, provided the bones are not too large. Give up ten minutes every day to the work of reduction and you will be more than repaid by the results attained. Take off your shoes and stockings, sit with the knees crossed and practice twisting the ankles round and round, moving the feet up and down in every direction. When one becomes tired then exercise with the other and so on alternately. Afterward rub them thoroughly with camphorated oil or a strong solution of alum.

MASSAGING my face with ice seems to have no effect on the enlarged pores. What can I do for them?—JANE B.

The ice treatment is good to tone up a flabby skin and to aid in removing wrinkles, but it will take something more drastic to close up those pores. Below is a lotion which I frequently recommend for this:

Rosewater... 3 ounces
Elder flower water... 1 ounce
Tincture of benzoin... 1/4 ounce
Tannic acid... 5 grains

HOW can I get rid of superfluous hair which makes me so unattractive?—ADA T.

The only safe method for the removal of superfluous hair is by electrolysis, which leaves no scar if properly done. The daily use, for several months or more, of a mixture of three drops of ammonia to a teaspoonful of peroxide of hydrogen is sure to make this growth lighter and, therefore, much less conspicuous. Besides, this treatment very decidedly discourages its growth. Should the skin become unpleasantly dry its use should be discontinued for a time.

SINCE undergoing an operation on my nose it seems swollen and the nostrils have spread. What can I do to remedy this condition?—RITA C.

Your physician is the best one to advise you about this. However, a simple astringent preparation like the one given below should prove helpful. Apply several times a day and at night:

Muriate of ammonia... 1 dram
Tannic acid... 1/2 dram
Glycerine... 2 ounces
Rosewater... 3 ounces

PLEASE tell me of something that will whiten my hands. I am a stenographer, so my hands are very conspicuous. They are always red, though they are not chapped.—PEG.

Perhaps the skin of the hands is too sensitive that they resent the too frequent use of soap. In such a case, try the following, which will whiten and soften the hands very quickly:

Carbonate of soda... 2 ounces
Powdered marshmallow root... 2 ounces
Barley meal... 12 ounces
Enough water to make a paste.

What to Serve with Meats, Fish and Fowl

THERE is no very hard-and-fast rule as to what sauces and vegetables to serve with the different kinds of meat, fish and fowl. Fashions in these matters change frequently and they often depend on the season, the location, etc. However, according to a writer in American Cookery, you cannot go far wrong if you follow the following list:

Roast Beef—Tomato sauce, grated horseradish, cranberry sauce, and vegetables in season.
Roast Veal—Tomato, cranberry, mushroom or onion sauce; spinach or any other fresh vegetable.

Roast Pork—Apple sauce, mustard, cranberry sauce; the root vegetables, greens like Brussels sprouts.
Roast Mutton—Currant jelly, caper sauce; white turnips, parsnips, cauliflower, etc.
Roast Lamb—Mint sauce, sorrel sauce; green peas, lettuce or any delicate vegetables.
Boiled Mutton—Caper, onion or sousise sauce, and vegetables the same as for roast mutton.
Boiled Beef—Mashed turnips, the root vegetables, and greens of any kind.

Roast Turkey—Cranberry sauce, currant, grape or apple jelly; almost any vegetables except boiled cabbage.
Boiled Turkey—Oyster sauce; sweet potatoes, boiled onions or any delicate vegetables.

Roast Goose—Same as roast pork.
Boiled Fowl—Bread sauce, cream sauce, drawn butter; vegetables same as for roast turkey.
Fresh Mackerel (boiled, broiled)—Stewed gooseberries; vegetables same as for roast pork.
Fresh Salmon—Cream sauce; green peas, macaroni, cucumber
Broiled Shad—Mushroom sauce, parsley or egg sauce; any desired vegetables.
Wild Duck—Any tart jelly; brown rice.

As a rule, the very pungent sauces, like horseradish, and the very pungent condiments, like mustard, should accompany only the heartier meats, such as beef, pork, corned meats, etc. Also the acid sauces, like tarrare, vinaigrette and all with vinegar as a basis, should be served only with the fatty meats, such as pork and roast goose, or the rich and fatty fish. Neither should pickles, unless a very delicate sweet pickle, accompany young Spring chicken, early Spring lamb, squab, partridge or the white, delicate meats.

A starchy vegetable goes with everything, the more delicate kinds, like rice, with chicken, lamb and the more delicate meats. As for the other vegetables, there is no rigid rule, and those that are the most common accompaniments are given in the list.

Right Napkins

THERE is no hard-and-fast rule for the sizes of the table napkins, except that those for breakfast and luncheon are generally smaller than the dinner napkins.

From fifteen to twenty inches square is a good size for breakfast or an informal luncheon; dinner napkins and those for formal luncheon are often twenty-five and even thirty inches square.

The ordinary French hem on a napkin should have a width of not more than one-fourth an inch, and the selvage should not be hemmed, says a writer in American Cookery. The hemstitched table linen is hemmed all round four sides and the width is a matter of taste, an inch or more, as you please.

The French hem for the tablecloth is the same width as for the napkins; the hemstitched hem may or may not be wider for tablecloths.

Canned Fish Recipes

By Mary Lee Swann,
The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Rechauffe of Haddock.

MELT 4 tablespoons butter and add 1 cup of cooked macaroni or noodles and 1 cup of flaked haddock (canned or cooked). Then add 1 cup of strained tomato pulp, 1 teaspoon salt, a dash of paprika and 5 drops of tabasco sauce. Heat thoroughly and serve at once.

Oysters Scrambled with Eggs.

CREAM 2 tablespoons butter with 1/4 tablespoon anchovy paste. Melt and add 6 slightly beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika. Stir and cook slowly. When eggs are beginning to "set" add 1 small can of oysters, which have been drained, chopped fine and reheated. Serve very hot on small rounds of buttered toast.

Sardines on Toast.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add a dash of paprika and stir until slightly browned. Add 1 cup of fish stock and stir until smooth and thick. Add 1 cup of sardines, from which bones and skin have been removed. Reheat and serve on hot buttered toast.

Creamed Lobster in Chafing Dish.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter. Add 2 tablespoons flour which has been mixed with 3 sifted hard-cooked egg yolks, a pinch of paprika, a grating of nutmeg and a dash of celery salt. Blend well and add 1/4 cup rich milk or cream and cook until smooth and creamy, stirring constantly. Add 2 1/2 cups hot lobster flakes. Reheat and serve on buttered toast.

Old-Fashioned Shrimp Pie.

CHOP 2 1/2 cups of shrimps, mix with 4 finely chopped anchovies or 1 teaspoon anchovy paste. Arrange a layer of the fish in bottom of buttered baking dish, add a layer of thinly sliced cooked potato and then a layer of cooked green peas. Sprinkle each layer with a little salt, pepper and sifted flour (using in all about 3 tablespoons flour). Repeat until all the fish is used. Pour 1 pint hot milk over all the ingredients, dot with butter, cover with rich baking powder biscuit dough, and prick with a fork to allow steam to escape. Bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Crab Flake Cakes.

MIX 2 cups crab flakes, 1/4 egg, 1/4 cup flour, a pinch of salt and a dash of paprika. Shape into small flat cakes, roll in flour and fry carefully on a slightly greased griddle. Serve with cream sauce or tomato sauce.

Shad Roe Croquettes.

DRAIN 1 can of shad roe, break with a fork, add 1 egg, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, a dash of paprika, and crumbs to make as thick as necessary. Shape into small balls, roll in egg and then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat and drain on unglazed paper. Garnish with cress and serve with horseradish sauce.

Creamed Codfish.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour, a pinch of paprika and a little salt and blend well. Add 1 1/4 cups milk and cook until smooth and creamy, stirring constantly. Season with a few drops of onion juice and a pinch of bay leaf if desired. (The bay leaf should be removed before serving.) Add 2 cups fish flakes, reheat and serve on buttered toast.

Salmon Loaf.

DRAIN 1 can salmon and remove skin and bones. Add 3 egg yolks well beaten, 1/4 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/4 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, a dash of paprika and about 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley. Mix thoroughly, and fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well-buttered baking dish, cover, set in pan of hot water and cook in moderate oven until firm to core. Serve hot with creamed peas or cold with sauce tartare and crisp lettuce.

Tuna Fish Croquettes.

MELT 3 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1 1/4 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika and cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Drain a pint can of tuna fish, add 2 teaspoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon salt. Add sauce to make a thick, easily handled mixture. Shape, roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs again. Fry in deep fat and drain on unglazed paper. Garnish with parsley and French fried potatoes.

The Batu Anam (Johore) Rubber Estates, Limited.

The eighth annual general meeting of the Batu Anam (Johore) Rubber Estates, Ltd., was held yesterday at the offices of the general managers, Messrs. R. N. Truman and Co., at No. 103 Seochuan Road. Mr. R. N. Truman presided, with directors L. E. Canning and A. J. Welch in attendance. Shares numbered 88,041 were represented.

Resolutions were passed as follows:

That the directors report and statement of accounts be adopted as read, proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Welch.

That Mr. L. E. Canning be confirmed as a director in place of Mr. E. A. Measor, who has returned home, proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Welch.

That Mr. A. J. Welch be confirmed as a director in place of Mr. G. Grayrigg, who has returned home, proposed by Mr. Canning, seconded by the chairman.

That Mr. R. N. Truman be re-elected as a director, proposed by Mr. Welch, seconded by Mr. Canning.

That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be appointed auditors for the ensuing year, proposed by Mr. R. N. Truman, seconded by Mr. Chang Hai-soo.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

The chairman, in his speech, said:

"Gentlemen: The planted area of the estate was increased during the year by 4 acres bringing the area under Hevea up to 1,020 acres and leaving 1,302 acres reserve. The producing area is given as 856 acres and non-producing at 154 acres. These figures are subject to confirmation by a qualified surveyor. The producing area is in first class condition, the weeding of the non-producing area, however, got out of hand during the manager's absence in India and in consequence the weeding costs were considerably higher than for the previous year.

The estate is very free from disease, but does have caused a good deal of damage by eating the bark of trees in the non-producing area. A stronger and higher fence round this area will be erected at a future date. Health owing to the severe drought was not very satisfactory in the early part of the year, the latest medical report, however, says health has been satisfactory.

LABOR SCARCITY

"Owing to the scarcity of Tamil labor the manager was granted leave to proceed to India to see if he could arrange for new recruiting districts. I am glad to say his efforts were very successful and 173 new coolies arrived during October, November and December. It is hoped that now this recruiting connection is established we shall in future have less difficulty in obtaining the necessary labor force.

REDUCED OUTPUT

"The output for the year was 286,115 lbs., being considerably short of the original estimate, due to drought, shortage of tappers, and restriction. The estimate for 1921 is 216,000 lbs. This, however, is only a provisional figure and may be reduced or increased according to the future condition of the market.

"The cost of production (i.e. port of shipment including duty and depression) was 1s. 2.94d. compared with 1s. 0.21d. in the preceding year. The higher cost is due to the enhanced price of all estate supplies, very heavy loss on rice supplied to coolies at below cost, recruiting expenses, and increased wages of the Tamil labor force. Estimates for this year have been reduced to the minimum. The European Staff consists of the Manager and one Assistant. Even with the most drastic reduction the estate is with the present market price of rubber being run at a loss.

"The sale of stock of 1919 rubber realised a profit of $12,335.91 over the book cost, and the sale of 211,272 lbs. of the output for the year under review realised 1s. 11.09d. This high average was due to the forward sales made in 1919. No forward sales were made for 1921. With the completion of the six coolie lines, assistant's bungalow and extension to the consulting shed, no further buildings should be required for some time. However, when we are on full tapping an extension to the factory will be necessary. The water supply is a matter that

GOING TO SWEAR OFF SMOKING?

—EAT CANDY!

Candy is a stimulant, but it is a beneficial one.

It is a splendid substitute for stimulants of an injurious nature. It counteracts that "let down" feeling which comes to those who "swear off."

Be sure to get pure candy. We suggest Candy and Chocolates from—

Jute Fabrics

Mr. J. A. Fredericks writes as follows in the jute fabrics circular dated April 27:

The little business done in this line has been mostly confined to small resales by Chinese dealers at a loss. Foreign importers have been holding back owing to the higher cost of replacing sales. A few bales of Greenstripe 2½ lbs. were done @ Tls. 203 and a few Hesians @ Tls. 90.00. Local prices below are nominal.

Bute Plantations Has Meeting

The eighth annual general meeting of the Bute Plantations (1913), Ltd. was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the general managers, 2 Kiukiang Road. Mr. A. W. Burkill occupied the chair, supported by Mr. A. K. Craddock and shareholders representing 39,850 shares. The chairman's speech follows:
THE CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH
"Gentlemen: The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read.
"Regarding the discrepancy in areas disclosed by the recent survey, the shortage of 193 acres is chiefly due to over-estimation when clearing work was first commenced, jungle and lalang encroachments however being responsible for a considerable area and this was occasioned during the tiger scare in recent years when it was impossible to induce coolies to work along the jungle boundaries where tigers had been seen. The fencing that had been erected should prevent any further areas being lost in this way.
"The year's working resulted in a profit of Tis. 2,091.66, which, however, is entirely due to exchange adjustments.
FINANCIAL POSITION
"The financial position as regards loans and sundry creditors is, I regret to say, no better than as shown in the previous year's accounts. Owing to delay in the issue of the new Government grants the transfer of the outlying areas sold could not be completed during the year, and the balance of proceeds of sale were not received before the end of 1920. A portion of the money has recently been paid and the balance will be collected shortly. The directors hope that these funds will be sufficient to cover the present loss on working until rubber improves to a figure over producing cost and thus obviate the necessity for further borrowing.
"The progress made during the year under review may be regarded as satisfactory. The cost of production is higher by 1 1/2% of the loss on rice and higher rates of pay accounting for this increase. Both these items will be reduced for the current year, as the control on rice has been lifted and the surplus of labor owing to present conditions will permit of lower rates of pay.
"The estate has been kept clean at an average cost of 77.58 cents per acre per month as against $1.17 for the previous year. Thinning out and cultivation work has been continued but financial conditions have necessitated a considerable reduction in the program of work proposed.
"The estate is reported as very free from disease of all kinds and there is no cause for any anxiety.
"Health has not been quite so good as in previous years but the district generally has been unfortunate in this respect.
ECONOMICAL SITUATION
"Every possible economy in the upkeep of the estate has been instituted and the management fully realizes the necessity for careful expenditure consistent with efficient maintenance of the property. The company has supported the 25 percent reduction in output, advocated by the Planting Associations in Malaya and this is being effected by a conservative tapping of the older areas.
"The foreign staff has been reduced to an absolute minimum and I take this opportunity of expressing the directors' appreciation of the good work done by Mr. Hawes and his staff.
"If any shareholders have any questions to ask, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability."
RESOLUTIONS
No questions were asked and the following resolutions were passed unanimously:
1.—Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill, seconded by Mr. A. K. Craddock.
"That the report and accounts together with the recommendations as to appropriation of balance at credit of profit and loss account as presented be accepted."
2.—Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill, seconded by Mr. S. R. Owen.
"That the appointment of Mr. A. K. Craddock as director of the company be confirmed."
3.—Proposed by Mr. A. K. Craddock, seconded by Mr. O. Thoresen.
"That Mr. A. W. Burkill be re-elected a director of the company."
4.—Proposed by Mr. O. Thoresen, seconded by Mr. S. R. Owen.
"That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be elected auditors to the company."

For Services Rendered—

THE tragic affair in Pakhoi Road, Thursday morning, when two members of the Municipal detective force were fatally shot and two others were wounded while rounding up a band of armed desperadoes, brings up for consideration once more by the local community the question of what is to be done toward the support of the families of men who give their lives in the defense of other lives and of property in the Settlement.

Detective Yang Zou-ling, who was buried yesterday, leaves a wife and child. Detective Yi Tuh-ou, whose funeral services will be held today, also leaves a widow and an orphan. Under the only regulations providing for the maintenance of families of members of the police force, a lump sum to be paid to such survivors is figured upon a basis of $4 for each year of service rendered the Municipality—up to a maximum payment of $200. In serious cases, such as the one in question, the Council has been in the practice of awarding an amount approximating $200. In the present instance it is not unlikely that a slight increase might be granted, owing to the bravery shown by these two martyrs to the cause of law and order. But it is improbable that the award will much exceed that figure and it is a significant commentary upon the fallacy of the basis of computation in existence that one of the victims to the assassins' bullets had been a member of the police force for scarcely a month.

Perhaps it is unfeeling to intimate that $200 is the ultimate to be expected by the family of a Chinese policeman who dies in the execution of his duties. The sum in past instances has often far surpassed that amount. In one case, for example, the Council's award was quintupled. But four-fifths of it was made up of voluntary subscriptions on the part of the men of the police force—the men who are called upon to risk their lives when ever occasion demands in order that the lives of private citizens and the property of private citizens may be protected.

If the morale of the police force is to be maintained—particularly that of the Chinese branches—it is imperative that the Municipality give serious and immediate attention to the problems to which an occurrence such as Thursday morning's, gives rise. Whether the adoption of a system of group insurance—with provision for investment—would best cover the matter, or whether a plan of pensioning, with monthly allowances to come out of a sinking fund, would be more equitable and satisfactory is a matter for the city to deliberate and decide. The payment of a lump sum, more especially if in accordance with past procedure, is entirely unsatisfactory.

If the insurance plan were to be given consideration, it is to be pointed out that there have been comparatively few fatalities in the police force within the past ten years, and an actuary could take the statistics at hand and calculate a rate which should be very reasonable. The drain upon a sinking fund for a pensioning scheme would be correspondingly light and it would seem that this scheme might have a very favorable reception at the hands of the force, since the promotion of a mutual benefit fund has been under consideration by its members for some time now.

Whatever the solution, it is glaringly apparent at the present moment that something further must be done to compensate service which runs to such a tragic conclusion as was enacted in the lodging house on Pakhoi Road. And, incidentally, the occurrence gives poignant force to the contention of members of the police force, when the salary question was up for discussion, that this branch of the Municipal service is entitled to special consideration.

Open Council Meetings

THE Civic League meeting of Thursday affords ample food for reflection for the citizens of Shanghai, at least for those who have the city's interests at heart in any degree; and those who do not come under this category are not worth considering. When a veteran resident of Shanghai, and, moreover, one who has in times past served the community on the Council, advocates at a public meeting the admission of the press to Council meetings and the curtailment of a policy of full publicity, it is surely time both for the Council and the ratepayers to consider the question.

An awakening and intelligent interest on the part of a large number of the constituents demands a corresponding consideration on the part of the governing body. They are ready and willing to be governed but wish to have some reasonable apprehension of the method of that government. From a civic point of view they are some of the best citizens; their very keenness and the interest they are evincing proves that; and it is their aim that such publicity may be given to the actions of the Council that they are cognizant of what their representatives are doing and that the policy pursued may be judged on its merits, and not evolved behind closed doors.

This nucleus of ordinary men and women possesses sufficient public spirit to make it critical—in the constructive sense—be it understood. These men and women are keenly alive to the difficulties before the executive of Shanghai and they fully appreciate the good work which has been, and is being done by the Council. But circumstances change and, to suit them, otherwise the system becomes antiquated and degenerates into a hoary anachronism.

The true democratic spirit abroad today distrusts secret diplomacy, it knows from experience that such is the atmosphere in which the permanent official is peculiarly at home, and it has learnt that with too great powers that official hampers progress; hence the clamor for "publicity," and an "open" government. Delicate questions affecting international interests have always been made one of the reasons for secrecy, but it still remains to be seen if these questions will be complicated or aggravated by an "open" policy. Difficulties have certainly not always been avoided by secrecy and a growing number of residents feel that the benefits to the community would outweigh the possible disadvantages.

The "secret" policy has been tried, why not try the "open" policy? We conclude that the Council is honestly anxious to act for the best interests of the community. Therefore it has nothing to fear from publicity. And it would certainly have its constituents behind it in a larger degree if it took them into its confidence all the year through instead of doing so once in twelve months.

Smoke Screens Up North

WHEN a scientist wants to know what an object is composed of he analyses it.

When a writer wants to describe a situation, he analyses it in order first to understand it. But when one starts to analyse the political middle in China, he encounters nothing but smoke screens and gas and soon finds himself reeling.

The first puff of gas to issue from the so-called Tientsin conference is directed against Dr. Sun Yat-sen, newly elected President of the Southern Republic. It is in the form of a lengthy manifesto, enumerating the "crimes" of Sun and carries the chops of the principal characters on the Tientsin stage, Chang Tso-lin, Inspector-General of the three Manchuria Provinces; Tsao Kün, Inspector-General of Chihli, Honan and Shanung; and Wang Chuan-yuan, Inspector-General of Hunan and Hupeh. Other signatories of the wordy document include a number of Tsuchans and Civil Governors whose will power is completely subordinated to that of their militant colleagues.

The declaration is typical of the verbal combats so persistently waged by Chinese against their political enemies. It contains such a great mass of irrelevant matter that none but the militarists in China, who are possessed of single track systems would take it seriously. The authors accuse Sun of prolonging the internal strife, creating hardship among the people, draining the nation of its wealth, causing diplomatic difficulties, enabling foreign invasion along the borders and violations of the law.

We do not here seek to defend Dr. Sun, but the thought will occur to most observers of Chinese affairs that if Dr. Sun had sat down to pen a series of charges against Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kün, the charges made by him would be the same as those now made against him, with this difference that the charges he made would be more truthful than those made against him. His accusers are the guilders.

As to the effect of the manifesto, we predict there will be none. Tsao and Chang hoped to persuade Wang Chuan-yuan to undertake a punitive expedition against Kwangtung. They suggested a division of labor. Tsao and Chang want the world to think that they are fully occupied in the Mongolian expedition. Wang is just as clever. He agreed to "punish" Sun. But govt. he: "I must unite myself with Szechuen, Hunan, Yunnan and Kwelchow. This union will cost ten million dollars. Therefore, give me ten million."

Meanwhile, other gas puffs are being sent forth from Tientsin. Those include the appointment of Tsao Ju-lin, the Japanese agent, as Minister of Finance, the removal of Ting Ching, Director of Aeronautics, because he has refused to surrender his airplanes for military use, and the immediate election of a new Parliament.

CHINESE COPPER COINAGE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—The appalling surplus of copper coins in circulation as reported by you has been noticed by most people, but this affords me the opportunity of drawing attention to another side of the question. You say that the present rate of exchange for a dollar is 149 copper coins and yet today the exchange shops only show a rate of 138. Is there any way of forcing these profiteers to exhibit the true rate of exchange?

In exchanging a dollar these exchange shops today pay out eleven ten cent pieces and three coppers, and when you change a ten cent piece they give you twelve coppers. According to this the exchange shops sell $22 plus 3 or 135 coppers for the equivalent of a dollar in small coins and yet they can themselves get 149 coppers for the same silver. They thus make a profit of fourteen coppers per dollar. In my opinion this is nothing but barefaced fraud, and if in time somebody was severely punished.

Is there no way of forcing these profiteers to pay thirteen coppers for each ten cent piece?

In my opinion the only people who can rectify this disgraceful coinage muddle are the Chinese soldiers. I am reminded of a sight I saw some time ago when I was travelling up country. There was quite a fleet of junks and they were being unloaded by soldiers of boxes which I was told contained copper coins, and the soldiers were to be paid in coppers. If the Chinese soldiers would insist upon being paid 149 coppers for each dollar the rascally officials would not make such a big "squeeze." The soldier however does not seem to worry about that but simply unloads his coppers on the defenceless shopkeeper if necessary at the point of the bayonet—at the army rate of exchange and so the coins get into circulation. Yours sincerely, J. A. J.

LAWYERS' FEES

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir—Will any reader of this article tell me what is the proper charge of a lawyer for rendering professional service? We have a very accurate idea. We have an architect will charge; also the doctor. To put the case directly, recently a Chinese lawyer claiming American citizenship, charged his friend Ts. 5,000 for appearing in the Mixed Court twice or so. Nothing was said in advance about the fee, the client thinking that lawyers are honest people and charge reasonable fees.

To the disgrace of the legal profession, the said fee was bargained down to Ts. 2,500 after the client refused to pay the bill. Finally, it was settled for about two thousand five hundred dollars. Now lawyers are like doctors, whose services we must have some time or other. Why not let the public know their scale of fees instead of freezing them as in the case above. Yours faithfully, "A VICTIM."

DIRECT ACTION?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—I have read with immense interest the letter of "Poorly Paid" and I think it is a very good answer to the many employers of this town. However, I would advise Mr. Poorly Paid not to waste any more efforts in fruitless appeals. Letters, talks, remonstrances and such like do not carry any weight. Drastic measures must be taken.

What Poorly Paid ought to do is to unite, one and all, and kick for an increase. One letter is sufficient. Not a letter of appeal, but one of demand. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, etc., DISPERATE. Shanghai, April 28, 1921.

Miss Eileen Dawn, who is so well known locally as the advance manager of the Edgar Warwick Company, writes me from Lahore. She has much to say about Peter Dawson, the famous baritone. She also encloses a striking article, written by a friend of hers which she thinks may interest the readers of the "Maskée" column. Here-with:

A WOMAN IN CHINATOWN

It was between the dusk and the dark we turned into Pennyfield, that narrow, slanting street, about which so many things are whispered, and so little is really known.

One side of the street seemed to consist mainly of Chinese eating houses and stores with curious dried goods in the windows. The other side was all boarding and night lodging houses; their business advertised in both English and Chinese characters.

And clustered all round these and the shops were men, lots of them, nearly all Chinese and all in European clothes. And they were all watching us! I could feel their black eyes on us even after we passed again into an English street.

Here I had the luck to meet an English woman, who has worked for nearly a quarter of a century in this very neighborhood, and we chatted as we went towards her Mission House.

"One cannot say too much about the condition of things prevailing around here," she declared, "but the present publicity doesn't really help matters much, except that it stops things for a little while."

"PUCK-A-PU"

"For instance," she continued, pointing to some houses we were approaching, "that is one of the places where they played that game 'Puck-a-pu.' There's another. There were several just here, but, of course, they have all closed for the moment while there is so much talk about them."

As we went along untidy Englishwomen and dirty children called greetings to her from the doors of disreputable looking houses, and I asked the sister what was her impression of the mixed alliances between Chinese men and white women.

"I am quite positive that they are increasing. It is only a few weeks ago that I mentioned to my chief that there seemed to be more than ever of the little black-haired babies. They are everywhere."

"But are they any proof?" I asked. "Are there no real Chinese wives?"

"ROUND FEET AND ALL!" "Faw, if any. Some months ago there were three Chinese women in this district—bound feet and all—but they seem to have disappeared again."

"And now, if you want to see some of the babies, turn down that street and you will see plenty."

And so we did. Indeed, at first sight, the inhabitants of Limehouse-caseway seemed to be all babies, dozens and dozens, sprawling on the street and narrow pavement, dirty but cheerful. Many of them were most attractive, especially one tiny creature with curling black hair and the brightest of eyes, who danced a little jig of joy as I passed.

In this street again I saw lots of men but scarcely any women. Everyone looked at us, but we endeavored to appear unconcerned.

IN A RESTAURANT

It was now dark and we were hungry, so turned into a Chinese restaurant, where the proprietor welcomed us as still more strangers bringing grist to the mill. But we were instantly the center of interest to all present, namely, three English waitresses, dozens of Chinese men, and a party of four or five English girls.

An atmosphere of bravado swept perceptibly over the room as we sat down and ordered coffee and cakes, thus following the example of most of those around us, although at the next table a man was feeding his infant with the aid of chop-sticks.

Slender whispers of "More sightseers!" were obviously intended for our ears, and one of the waitresses, edged on by the girls at the table, all of whom were much more smartly dressed than I was, snatched up the baby and began admiring it in loud tones, taking it up to a Chinaman near us, and saying, "Kiss your daddy, darling! Haven't we a lovely baby, dear?"

We were obviously under close observation. When we went out, from the tail of my eye I saw a man rise quietly and follow us sufficiently far to make sure we were not turning further into the Chinese quarter.

"The game's up as far as we are concerned," said my guide. "They know us right enough now for what we are, even if they didn't before, and it's no good going back along those streets unless we are asking for trouble. We'll try 'The Corner' instead and see what's doing."

But nothing was, and the police to be seen were almost more numerous than the people.

"They are doing their work well," said my friend. "Last night when I was here there was plenty going on much earlier than this."

"White girls and colored men all around this very spot, and one white woman actually hawking her daughter, a girl of about fifteen, until she got her off with a negro."

"FOUND DEAD?" "Well, it's quiet enough tonight," I said. "Let's go back down to Pennyfields. The 'found dead' this morning that there was no street a woman could not go down safely by herself, and I want to try."

"Certainly not," he returned. "I don't care what the paper says. The police wouldn't let me down last night, even though I know the district. If you want to know why, come and read this."

He led me to the police-station notice-board, where there were no fewer than eight advertisements, asking for identification of men "found dead" in the neighborhood.

Since there was no answer to such an argument I turned reluctantly homewards. I had seen no opium dens, no white slave trafficking—in fact, few women at all—no native dress; but plenty of houses that looked capable of hiding unspeakable secrets, plenty of watchful Asiatic folk minding their own business more completely than any European will ever succeed in doing, and plenty—oh, more than plenty—of the black-eyed kiddies.

Training The Child

BY BRICE BELDEN, M.D.

Although it is not generally realized, it is possible for parents to start training their baby immediately after its birth. In the case of sickness or previous lack of training, however, this ideal has to be approached with more care than would otherwise be the case.

The baby's training should commence by giving its feeding at regular hours. By putting it back to bed soon after nursing it may be taught to sleep without the frequently long-drawn-out soothing process. A properly educated baby will sleep quietly without the darkened room, the pacifier in its mouth and rocking in its mother's arms, simply because of the cessation of all movement in the vicinity of its crib.

How often does the poorly educated baby keep an entire household in a state of anxiety lest some unguarded movement or sudden noise should disturb it? If the baby finds it will not be lifted up and petted every time it cries it will soon learn to lie quiet. Of course, it is necessary to make certain that the baby is not crying for some good reason such as wrinkled clothing, indigestion, or a misplaced pin.

The baby should be left to itself. About all it should be permitted to do is to eat and sleep. Mothers who teach their young infants engaging tricks may find that their nervous systems suffer, and in time the infant may become an abnormally precocious child. Babies should not be awakened in order to show them off to admiring friends and relatives.

Roughness or loud shouting, as disciplinary measures, may prove of serious harm to a child; milder measures must be employed when it falls into the habit of giving way to fits of temper and outbursts of angry crying.

BURLEY TOBACCO

Most Americans understand this term, but English people do not generally know what it refers to.

It is modern type of tobacco developed on the phosphatic limestone soils of KENTUCKY and OHIO since the American Civil War.

"LUCKY STRIKE" Cigarettes and Smoking Tobacco are blended with "BURLEY" variety and have achieved great popularity in the United States.

Smokers who wish to try out new kinds will therefore strike luck if "LUCKY STRIKE" strikes them.

The Cigarettes are packed in 20's and the Smoking Tobacco in 2 oz. and 4 oz. tins.

Cotton

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly cotton market report of today:

China Cotton.—Our market assumed a brighter aspect since the issue of our last circular and a fair volume of business may be said to have been consummated, during the week under review, at prices slightly higher than last levels and sellers continue showing a firmer attitude by not acceding to buyers' views thus indicating an improving tendency at the close. It is quite reasonable to infer that holders of the balance of the crop are being encouraged in their policy by the healthy situation in the local yarn markets and the advancing rates in Siam and it may be anticipated that the continued prosperity in yarn will more or less beneficially reflect on the raw material.

Under the circumstances it would be advisable not to foster any bearish sentiment but to modify it to the extent of providing for near future requirements and wait further developments. Tone of the market, steady.
